

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to order its stations to air the anti-Kerry documentary "Stolen Honor" without airing a pro-Kerry documentary that refutes its charges--especially so close before the presidential election--is unseemly and smacks of impropriety. Republican or Democrat, free public airwaves involve a responsibility to be as non-partisan as possible. Yet this documentary at this time clearly has only one purpose: it is designed to influence the election. THE FCC should not allow this since Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. This also shows why media ownership rules must be tightened and enforced.

Please do not allow this to happen. Our democracy is at stake! Thanks in advance.

Sincerely,
Julian Henry Lowenfeld
